PCWTA is a program of the Academy for Professional Excellence at San Diego State University School of Social Work in collaboration with our University partners, CSU San Bernardino, Loma Linda University and CSU Fullerton.

Behavioral Health Education & Training Academy (BHETA) is a County of San Diego Behavioral Health contracted program of the Academy for Professional Excellence, a project of the San Diego State University School of Social Work.
San Diego County Pathways to Well-Being One Day Overview trainings help to facilitate a common, strategic and practical framework that integrates service planning, delivery, coordination and management among all those involved throughout the County in working with children involved in multiple service systems. The San Diego County Pathways to Well-Being One Day Overview trainings are taught in a triad with a representative from Child Welfare Services, Behavioral Health Services and the family/youth sector. All trainings are open to CWS staff, BHS therapists, counselors, family & youth support partners, case managers, and other direct service providers working with children, youth, and families.

Upon completion of this training, participants will be able to describe the purpose and core values of Pathways to Well-Being, list strategies for cross program collaboration, identify children and youth eligible for enhanced services, describe the purpose and value of teaming with children/youth and families and list strategies for successful developing, participating and supporting a Child and Family Team (CFT).
