

Trauma-Focused Cognitive Behavioral Therapy

Presented by Alison Hendricks, LCSW

June 7 & 8, 2019

6367 Alvarado Court, Room 103,
San Diego, CA 92120

Course Description

Trauma-Focused Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (TF-CBT) is an evidence-based, culturally responsive treatment model for children and adolescents impacted by trauma and their parents or caregivers. This model addresses the unique needs of children and youth with PTSD symptoms, depression, or other behavioral, social, and emotional issues related to traumatic life experiences. After completing the in-classroom training, participants receive support through consultation calls to help identify and resolve challenges they may have when using TF-CBT with their current caseload. Course completion satisfies some criteria for TF-CBT Certification.

Note: To gain the most benefit from this training, participants should be able to use TF-CBT with their current caseload.

Learning Objectives

Upon completion of this training, participants will be able to:

- List the core concepts of TF-CBT
- Identify suitable candidates for TF-CBT
- Apply the TF-CBT model appropriately
- Identify and define the components of the TF-CBT model
- Maintain the TF-CBT treatment model while adapting to a child or youth's needs
- Identify strategies to sustain use of the TF-CBT treatment model with populations served
